PURPOSE AT A GLANCE

This policy explains how [ ] identifies, manages, documents and reports real and perceived conflicts of interest — including the specific steps taken where [ ] delivers both support coordination and other supports to the same participant.

1. Purpose and scope

This policy supports [ ] to apply the Governance and Operational Management NDIS Practice Standards. It applies to all services and supports delivered by [ ] and to all employees, contractors and volunteers (Workers), who must take full responsibility for understanding and following it. It should be read alongside the related documents in the final section and the corresponding procedures in the Policy Register.

2. Policy aims

[ ] is committed to ensuring that:

- each participant's support is overseen by governance and operational management systems that are proportionate to the size and scale of the provider and the scope and complexity of the support delivered, and that perceived and actual conflicts of interest are proactively managed and documented.

3. General

[ ] and its workers ensure that, when providing support under the NDIS, any conflict of interest is declared and any risks to clients are mitigated. Workers act in the best interests of clients — keeping them informed, empowered and able to maximise choice and control — and do not, by act or omission, constrain, influence or direct a person's decision-making so as to limit their access to information, opportunities, choice and control.

Workers manage, document and report individual conflicts as they arise, and ensure that advice about support options (including options not delivered by [ ]) is transparent and promotes choice and control. All clients are treated equally; no client is given preferential treatment over another.

4. Managing conflicts of interest — workers

On commencing work, every worker discloses to [ ] in writing any matters, interests or conflicts (financial, business or personal, including interests in or relationships with other entities) that could affect how they deliver — or are perceived to deliver — support to a client. Workers immediately disclose any such matter that develops later, in writing.

5. Managing conflicts of interest — support coordination

Clients are presented with a range of provider choices and [ ] does not seek to influence the client to select [ ]. Because [ ] may provide both support coordination and other supports, clients are always informed of alternative providers and of any relevant conflicts with other providers connected to [ ].

Where [ ] conducts support coordination for a client, it: explains this policy in a way the client is most likely to understand; endeavours to always obtain at least three quotes (where possible) from other providers alongside its own when obtaining quotes on the client's behalf; makes clear that choosing another provider will not affect the client's support coordination in any way and carries no repercussions; documents in case notes the providers offered and the reasons for the client's choice for each support category; documents a request for capacity or quote where the client chooses another [ ] service; and explains, at the first meeting, how the client can request a change of provider, including a change of support coordinator.
